Online Demos – Software Test Engineer

Responsibilities:

SolarWinds is looking for a Software Test Engineer with solid knowledge of the testing and test automation domain. Become a member of a scrum team responsible for SolarWinds Hybrid Cloud Observability(HCO) Online Demo (https://hco.demo.solarwinds.com/) and other Online Demos for products that are the key part of the SolarWinds products portfolio. You will be responsible for product quality delivery, technical oversight on automation tests, improving the test processes, and helping the team to follow best automation practices. Besides that, you will also be responsible for testing Lab and production environments. And as we are extending the team, there will also be a possibility to prepare tests for SWI Cloud-based products.

Required:

- We require you to have commercial experience in software testing focused on web-based applications.
- We also expect you to have problem-investigation, debugging, and solving skills
- Solid knowledge of some programming language – ideally C#
- Working experience with relational databases (MS SQL, MySQL,…).
- You need to have experience working with Test Automation tools, general knowledge of OOP, and a solid understanding of the development processes.
- Also, because we are a multicultural team and company, you should be able to express your thoughts and ideas in English.

Nice to have:

- Knowledge of SpecFlow framework (or similar), Gherkin
- Experience with CI/CD principles.
- Experience with a source control tool, like Git, SVN, TFS, or similar
- Experience with agile methodologies, Jira, Confluence, TeamCity
